Helping People the Girl Scout Way

We're in this together, explained Brenda Rosecrans, the human resources director at Westminster-Canterbury on Chesapeake Bay. As a former Girl Scout who can still recite the Girl Scout Promise and Law, helping people has always been a priority for her, and she's happy that it's a value of her employer, who took action to help the area Girl Scouts.

After learning that the Girl Scouts had to halt cookie booths due to COVID-19 and that troops and the Council would bear the financial impact of the unsold inventory, the leadership at Westminster-Canterbury decided to support area Girl Scouts by giving cookies as thank you gifts to their hard-working employees and give smiles-in-a-box to their residents. Girl Scout Council of Colonial Coast CEO Tracy Keller, along with two Virginia Beach Girl Scouts, delivered the cookies today to Westminster-Canterbury's front door. Being mindful of the social distancing rule, the cookies were placed on an outdoor, decorated table for distribution.

"Westminster-Canterbury is proud to partner with the Girl Scouts of the Colonial Coast to recognize our team members and their outstanding work during these challenging times of the COVID-19 pandemic," Rosecrans said. "And what a great way to say thank you and boost campus morale even more ... with everyone's favorite treat – Girl Scout cookies!"

Girl Scouts will continue offering cookies on their digital platform where customers can purchase boxes for themselves or to donate to those who are at the frontline of this crisis. Visit www.gscoc.org or call 800-77SCOUT for information.
