

Ivana Marshall, Member At Large

Ivana Marshall is a native of Williamsburg, Virginia and 2017 graduate of the University of Richmond. Her undergraduate academic interest areas led her to study human rights issues in Poland, Jordan, London, Canada, Ireland, and Northern Ireland. Immediately following her undergraduate studies, Ivana worked as a Governor’s Fellow in the Office of Policy for past Virginia Governor Terry McAuliffe. Because of these experiences, she found opportunities to address human rights issues in institutions of higher education.

Ivana began her career in higher education as the Inbound Immigration Specialist at Hampton University, where she built upon her undergraduate work to assist faculty, staff and students in their J-1, F-1 and H-1B visa applications. Currently, Ivana serves as the Associate Director of Alumni Engagement and Inclusion Initiatives at William & Mary; where she develops the engagement, leadership and philanthropy of four identity-based alumni communities: Asian-Pacific Islander-Middle Eastern (APIM), Crim Dell Association of LGBTQ+ alumni, Latinx alumni, and W&M Women. Additionally, Ivana serves as the Chair of the University Advancement Diversity & Inclusion Committee.

As a volunteer, Ivana serves as a member of the Jepson School of Leadership Executive Board of Advisors, American Association of University Women (AAUW) Inclusion and Equity Committee, and an American Council on Education (ACE) Senior Seminar participant.

In addition to her full-time and volunteer work, Ivana is a part-time master’s student in the Higher Education Administration Leadership, Policy and Planning program at William & Mary. Ivana served as the President of the William & Mary Higher Education Student Association and has served as a Social Justice & Diversity Research Fellow for the 2021-2022 academic year. She is extremely passionate about engaging communities through education in meaningful ways, both at home, in the United States, and globally.
